510:213 The Crusades
This course aims at investigating the Crusading Movement both as the product of Medieval Western Society and an occasion of encounter between East and West. Central themes will include the development of religious warfare in Western Christianity, the major military expeditions, the Crusader States in the East, and the religious-military Orders.