

A Conversation with Dr. Spencer Crew

“Thinking Out Loud about
What it Means to be a Public Historian”

March 30, 2017
4:30pm-6pm

Alexander Library
Pane Room
College Avenue Campus

A public lecture by eminent public historian and Rutgers alumnus (Ph.D. History, 1979), Dr. Spencer Crew, former curator and director of the National Museum of American History, Smithsonian Institution, former president of the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center, and guest curator at the new National Museum of African American History and Culture. Dr. Crew is currently Robinson Professor of History at George Mason University.

This talk has been generously supported by the History and American Studies Departments at Rutgers University New Brunswick.

