

The Rutgers University Center for African Studies and the African Studies Association
proudly present

The 13th Annual African Studies Association Presidential Lecture

Jean Allman

A POST-MORTEM OF THE AFRICAN REVOLUTION: RETHINKING THE GLOBAL SIXTIES

Thursday, April 19, 2018

4:30—5:50 pm

Van Dyck Hall, Room 301

College Avenue Campus

Jean Allman is the J.H. Hexter Professor in the Humanities and Professor of History at Washington University. She is currently director of the Center for the Humanities. Allman is the author of The Quills of the Porcupine: Asante Nationalism in an Emergent Ghana, "I Will Not Eat Stone": A Women's History of Colonial Asante (with V. Tashjian), and Tongnaab: The History of a West African God (with J. Parker) and has edited and introduced several collections, including Fashioning Africa: Power and the Politics of Dress.

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences