RBSC invites all interested faculty and doctoral candidates at Rutgers (Camden, Newark and New Brunswick) and British Studies scholars in the mid-Atlantic region to join our Faculty Workshop presentations of research-in-progress. We are eager to create a forum where scholars with shared interests in British Studies broadly construed from across disciplines and the region can meet one another. Meetings begin with a light dinner and drinks followed by brief opening remarks by the presenter. They are held on the College Avenue campus of Rutgers, New Brunswick.

November 7, 6pm
Murray Hall 305
Rebecca Walkowitz (English)
“This Is Not Your Language”

December 5, 6pm
Murray Hall 302
Chie Ikeya (History)

January 30, 6pm
Murray Hall 302
Mukti Lakh Mangharam (English)
“Rethinking Modern Notions of Agency: Freeing the Female Self Affectively in Pre-Colonial and Colonial India”

April 8, 6pm
Murray Hall 302
Marisa Fuentes (Women’s & Gender Studies and History)
“Venus Whipped: Abolition Discourse, Gendered Violence and the 18th-century British Caribbean Archive”

For more information, please visit http://britishstudies.rutgers.edu or email cwhalen@rbsc.rutgers.edu