Chambers Oral History Graduate Fellowship Lecture

Down in the Delta: From a Hallowed Home

PAMELA WALKER

Saturday, December 1, 2018

12PM Lecture

Rutgers Academic Building West, Rm. 6051

15 Seminary Place

Pamela Walker is a PhD Candidate in the department of History. Her work examines the relationship between rural black and white motherhood, civil rights participation, antipoverty organizing, and social consciousness in 1960s era social movements. She'll be sharing the findings and early insights from her summer conducting oral histories with rural black women in the Mississippi Delta.

Lunch will be served following the lecture. Please RSVP by November 23 to kathryn.rizzi@rutgers.edu.
