Selin Bengi Gümrükçü is visiting scholar in the Political Science Dept. at Rutgers. She was from 2015 assistant professor at Izmir University, until that university was shut down in 2016 for political reasons by the Turkish government. Gümrükçü, who completed her Ph.D. at the University of Zurich, has also held positions at the EUI (Florence) and the University of Paris 8. In addition to her forthcoming monograph, Protest and Politics in Turkey in the 1970s: The Making of a Protest Wave (Routledge), Gümrükçü is author of numerous articles and book chapters, including Theorising Social Movements in Democratic Transitions, in Laboratory Western Balkans: Regime Cha(lle)nge, ed. Can Zeyrek (2016); and Europeanization and Political Parties in Turkey (with F. Başkan-Canvaş), in Europeanization of Turkey: Polity and Politics, ed. A. Gûney/A.Tekin (2015).