

“Bolshevik Russia” as Ground Zero of the Nazi Policy of Mass Annihilation

Series Local Talent: Europe at Rutgers

Jochen Hellbeck

History (New Brunswick)

11:00 AM, Wednesday, February 10

Register for the Event Zoom Link

Jochen Hellbeck is Distinguished Professor of History at Rutgers. He is author of the prize-winning books Stalin on My Mind: Writing a Diary under Stalin (2006) and Stalingrad: The City that Defeated the Third Reich (2015; first published in German in 2012). He is currently completing the book project “Total War,” and additionally working on a documentary monograph and companion web portal, both entitled “Soviet Survivors of Nazi Occupation: The First Testimonies.” He is the recipient of many awards, including Morphomata, Guggenheim, S. C. Davis Center, and American Academy in Berlin fellowships.

