

The Interpreting American History Speaker Series Presents:

ERIC STANLEY
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, BERKELEY

‘ATMOSPHERES OF VIOLENCE’ A CONVERSATION ON TRANS/QUEER LIFE AND POLITICS

What forces enable anti-trans/queer violence to persist in the era of LGBT inclusion?

What is the role of the state in trans life? The role of suicide? The role of labor?

If anti-trans violence is “foundational to modernity,” how do we challenge it?

Join us as we discuss these questions and more with Professor Eric Stanley as we hear them discuss their new book “Atmospheres of Violence: Structuring Antagonism and the Trans/Queer Ungovernable” on October 31st.

Refreshments and snacks will be provided!
Halloween costumes welcome!
