

RUTGERS CENTER FOR EUROPEAN STUDIES

Breaking Up is Hard to Do: Franco-Algerian Lives and Laws

Judith Surkis

Dept. of History

Series Local Talent: Europe at Rutgers

4:30 PM, Wednesday, December 2

Register for the Event Zoom Link

Judith Surkis is Professor of History at Rutgers, and author of Sex, Law, and Sovereignty in French Algeria, 1830-1930 (2019); and Sexing the Citizen: Masculinity and Morality in France, 1870-1920 (2006). At Rutgers, she co-directed the RCHA project Ethical Subjects: Moralities, Laws, Histories (2015-2017), which was funded as a Mellon Sawyer Seminar, and co-founded the History Dept. minor in Law and History. She has received several fellowships, including most recently at the Davis Center for Historical Studies at Princeton University. She is currently working on a book project entitled "The Intimate Life of International Law: Children and Development After Decolonization."

RUTGERS
School of Arts and Sciences